

—Staff Photos
ABOVE, the large brick terrace overlooking the marshes and the Cooper river, at the rear of Harry F. Guggenheim's winter home at Cainhoy. Below, Lucky, one of Mr. Guggenheim's prize setters. He had more than sixty prize dogs in his kennels this winter. Their trainer is Bill Richardson, who goes north with them each summer and comes south with them in winter.

—Staff Photos

ABOVE, FRONT VIEW of Mr. Guggenheim's Cainhoy plantation winter home. Center picture shows a view of the oak avenue leading to the home with two brownstone acorns, formerly on the gateposts of 47 East Bay street, in the foreground. Below, front view of the brick kennel house in which Mr. Guggenheim keeps more than sixty setters and hounds. The dogs in the picture are untrained puppies which are being taught by Bill Richardson, their trainer. The trained dogs have been taken north in a specially constructed dog trailer.

MAKING TO HEAR
 BY GUY L. HARRIS

THEY ARE THE ONLY
 PEOPLE IN THE WORLD
 WHO CAN HEAR

2,000 Letters Will Appeal
 For Crippled Children Fund